Many Graduates Signing Contracts For Next Year

By Marshall Becker

Not all senior future teachers are crying "Oh where oh where can my teaching job be?". At least 15 of them are singing "Happy days are here again!" All 15 have signed contracts for the 1950-51 school year.

Of the 15, six will be teaching in high schools, six on the elementary level, two in foreign mission schools and one will be a graduate assistant in university.

Marshall Becker has signed up to teach government at Forest City, Paul Bruns will coach at Myrtle, Blakney Martens will teach home economics teacher at Strie Center, Bill Steinert will teach history at Plainfield, Shirley Wigmes will teach mathematics and coach at State Center, and Marilyn Mueller will be at Shell Rock teaching English.

Five In Elementary

Elementary teachers who have been placed for the coming year are Phyllis Beckman at Lehy; Mildred Boehler at Jesup; Jeanne Buenting at Zion Lutheran parochial school, Galena, Wis.; Evelyn Buhlhaupt at Chapel of Peace parochial School, Independence, Calif.; Roberta Kemper at Waverly, and Arlene Ehret at Aplington.

John Bowman will instruct a 7th grade school at Beaman and Ralph Tews will take over a similar position in the Nashua field of New Galena.

Morgan Named Assistant

Carl Morgan is the student who has received the position of graduate assistant at the University of Nebraska. He will assist in the mainly that of helping in the biology laboratory and in the instructional duties. Morgan will do graduate work in botany.

In addition, three vacancies have been filled in the Wartburg parish work. Helen Hittemeyer has accepted a position at St. Peter's Lutheran church, Toledo, Ohio. Arlene Ehret will be employed at the First Lutheran church, Waterloo. Lois Ann Streng has begun work at Holy Lutheran church, Cedar Falls.

Students Can Buy Services Of Faculty Next Saturday Night

Students will be able to purchase the services of their professors at the all-school party planned for 7:30 p.m. in the Knights of Columbian.

Party is being sponsored by the student council as a means of showing appreciation of the fine support given the library drive. Proceeds of it go well beyond the $5,000 goal.

Entertainment, admission and refreshments at the all-school party will have the double purpose of bringing students with the faculty and to encourage the students to buy off their pledges to the library drive.

Kilgrut To Clean

Among services already offered, the Rev. Delan Kilgrut, of the speech department, will offer to clean any room on fourth floor of the girls' dorm. Mr. Ernest Oppermann, dean of students, has offered to clean any room on second floor and pictures for one dollar.

Miss Ella Jacob, of the modern languages department, has consented to drive a couple around on their date for the evening. There are just a few of the faculty members whose services will be on the auction block.

Clerks' Auction

Other items on the program will be a quartet composed of Herold Heupel, Marvin Schumacher, Jerry Schmidt, Dale Sorensen, and Bill Stave, sophomore Male Klatt, freshman, will be remembered for his performance in Knights of Columbian. The last great scene of his popular imitations of famous members, Bill Wienke, KWVT disc-jockey, will present a radio skit.

Panel Next Tuesday

Panel on "Courtship and Marriage" will be conducted next Tuesday evening, April 25, at 7:45 p.m. in St. Paul's parish house, according to Dr. William Schmidt, pastor.

Wartburg college faculty members on the panel are Dr. Paul F. Reese, dean of the faculty, and the Rev. Delan Kilgrut, of the sociology department.

Chimes System Given Wartburg By Film Group

Chimes and music will soon be heard all over the Wartburg campus and this part of town, thanks to a gift presented to the college by the Lutheran Film Associates in return for free office and storage space, which the college has provided for the organization.

Installment of the new equipment—consisting of a Schantz three-octave player and a loud-speaking system—has been purchased by Dr. Hugo H. Hoyer, Luther, professor of philosophy at Wartburg college, and will be completed in time for summer use in installed soon, probably on the roof of Old Main, and the system will be dedicated on high school Senior day, May 2.

Total cost of the equipment will be around $3,000, which includes tithed and fifty dollars, according to Dr. Hoyer. The chimes system will also be available for other churches in the area for a small fee, and perhaps a few patriotic songs will be played each day, he said.

The gift Main uses contemplated for the system at present are evening shortly before church services, and weekday holidays and during the Christmas season.

Officers of the Film Service—an organization not officially owned by Wartburg—elected recently are Rev. Arnold Jahn, Bellevue, president; Dr. Hoyer, vice-president; the Rev. Sig. Sandrock, Nashua, second vice-president; Rev. Lee Harvey, and Dr. A. W. Swenson, secretary. Rev. Zdenek Fousek completes some six hundred and fifty American Lutheran congregations with religious, social and educational film strips and slides.

Phones Ringing To Tell About All-School Party

By Fred Moberg

"585, please. Second floor, please. Could I speak with Helen?

"Hello, Helen? This is Jack Say, the Lambda Mu east at Alpha Phi. Jeanie is spending a new, different, terrible all-school party tonight. There's right, the Little Theater, 8 p.m. No, there's no cost.

"The Eligible Mr Bangs,' a hilarious comedy-mystery, is on the program. Bob Snyder has the title role and will play the part of Bruce Bangs. Bob's fiancee, Jules unmarried women, Jane Kardal has the female lead and will portray the role of Lucille, Bangs' female fiancee.

"The director, Ruth Engelbrecht, tells me that Judy Vogt and George Reider are cast as the disgusting wife and henpecked husband who are trying to be Cupids. It's kind of a satire on the high social society and should be a lot of fun.

"That isn't all, either! There will be a special all-entertainment pre-seating contest with a surprise prize for the winner. Lyle Lee, Ralph Edwards' Meier and me are going to have a panel, a group of truth or consequences and that we're not asking for participation. Refreshments and entertainment round it all up for three.

"You say you want to go? Fine! I'll see you tonight at 8 o'clock. Before you ... be seeing you tonight."

Mel Gitter Vice-president

In class presidential elections last Monday, Harold Wittbrice was chosen to head next year's senior class. His 23 votes were enough to defeat the 13 tallied for Leiby and 10 for Wayne Stumme.

Dick Swensen will preside over the junior class next year. He received 28 votes. Lester Becker got 17 and Jeanne Kruse got 15. Stryder 14. Only two candidates ran for the sophomore class presidency, with Victor Wenger defeating Dr. Lyle Eckle, 51-43.

Nominations for Student Senators were voted at the last meeting. Sophomore and junior class meetings were held during chapel hours.

From these nominees, three will be elected to Student Senate to take places left vacant by elected class presidents. Since all the class presidents but the last freshman woman must be elected to Student Senate from the nominees in order to comply with the senate body constitution.

Marian Petersen will sing nonclassical songs from Wagner and Verdi.

Job Hunting Harder

This is the time of year that college graduates begin looking for jobs, and so it is quite significant that the U. S. department of labor should send out information on job opportunities now existing in the United States.

Maurice J. Tobin, secretary of labor, has this to say about job outlooks for graduating seniors this year:

"You college seniors are members of the largest graduating class in the history of the United States collegiate education. You and your classmates may total half a million, a peak number not likely to be reached again in the near future.

"The very size of the graduating class will intensify the competition for jobs when you seek employment. Furthermore, it is likely that there will be fewer job openings than there were two years ago, or even last year."

Mr. Tobin goes on to say that the outlook is not bleak, that in some localities and in some occupations there will be jobs in abundance, and that, although there may be, on average, this year's graduate will have to hunt longer and harder for a job than graduates have had to in the past few years.

Among job opportunities that would directly interest students of Wartburg, the report lists a filling of the requirement of labor states that in the field of teaching there is an acute shortage of personnel in the elementary schools and a growing scarcity at the high school level, especially in men's physical education, social sciences and English. One elementary teacher was needed for every three needed, while four times as many college students completed training for high school teaching as were required.

An overwhelming shortage of nurses is listed for the fields of law, journalism and personnel work, while the engineering and chemistry fields are badly filling the ranks. General liberal arts graduates with work experience or specialized training will find it easier to get jobs than those with only a general undergraduate education.

Best opportunity for graduates seems to be in the health service occupations, such as nursing, dentistry, medicine, and laboratory technicians.

Information such as this will no doubt be valuable, not only to the 500 Wartburg graduates, but also to countless underclassmen and women who are weighing the advantages and disadvantages of different occupational fields.

The Price We Pay

Last week, the headlines of some of our national newspapers almost carried us back to the war days. They screamed for revenge over the loss of an American plane and for a Navy commander plane disappeared over the Baltic sea. Presumably, the plane was identical with the one which several Russian fighters had earlier shooting upon. The American plane was then lost from view and disappeared over the ocean.

It is not altogether impossible that the two planes—the one which the United States lost and the one the Russians admit shooting upon—were actually one and the same craft. As a matter of fact, it is more than possible that they were since no other American plane has been reported on missions over that part of the world. But the important point is, granted that the Russians shot the plane down, and we should draw our conclusions accordingly.

Of course it is regrettable that the incident ever took place. It is outrageous that a Russian fighter should fly so close to and upon one of our planes, and later reward its fighter pilots for "outstanding performance of duty in the face of grave provocation when there was—and the severity of the retaliation by the Russians is not of all purposes, proof positive that the provocation that the Navy plane was reportedly unarmed.

Nevertheless, we must be careful lest the incident have far grever consequences than we can presently foresee. A blunder such as the one the Russians have committed can have severely reprimanded, but it must not be permitted to disturb finally the peaceful and steadfast situation already existing between the two countries today, not because the diplomatic situation has changed in any appreciable degree, because the American people have been aroused and an open feeling of antagonism has made its appearance.

It is doubtful whether the Russians will comply with the demands of the United States government note, which demands full injury to American property and life. Most probably, the American fliers who were killed will not be revenged. And yet, there is little we can do about it short of making the situation infinitely worse than it already is. We cannot, however, let the incident finally run into open conflict. The price of millions of lives is too much to pay for what has happened. The price of 10 lives may be the price we pay for peace.

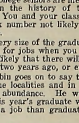
Beautiful, Lively, Enthusiastic

That's Queen Lenore

By Claude Grelling

Beautiful, lively and contagiously enthusiastic—that's Lenore Langreck, Wartburg's spring queen. The 18-year-old freshman coed was chosen before Easter vacation by the "W" club to reign over the spring sports season here.



Lenore Langreck

Easy Pickings
from the staff

DICK TELLOT, junior, has just been awarded the "Purple Eye" for the best student of the year by the editor of it, this eye should put him in basketball Hall of FAME.

IS IS CRUEL regretful that so many students view little if at all with the express aim of student government meetings—yes, that's correct, only 5 percent of class members were present at a meeting for nominations, and a minority dig the balloting.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES—Notice posted on one of the bulletin boards in Neumann hall:

"If you don't keep this place clean, it will be converted into a bookstore."

TRUMPET EDITOR "Bill Boy" Bowker's fancy one more turned to thoughts of Tilzala this weekend, so he left for home. Must be spring.

Lenore's selection did not really come as a surprise to her friends. During the three days of the campaign, which lasted more than seven months—she became the center of attention for her quick, easy smile, her spirited personality and her willingness to work. The freshman has recently been active in electing her to Student Senate for the next semester. She was one of the nominees on Norm Fisher's student impromptu show, Already On Duty.

Although she will not be crowned officially until Senior Day, May 7, Lenore has already begun to exercise her royal duties by awarding the trophies to the victorious teams at the Luther relays in Decorah on Wednesday last week-end.

"I didn't know what to say," recalls Lenore, but various speeches remembered by others has discarded herself of her duties with true royal dignity and aplomb.

Being a resident of Cedar Falls—she was born in Kiesville—the queen had some explaining to do about her choice of schools.

"I wanted to get away from home, and attend a Christian school."

Most people will probably be able to understand her on both counts. Being away from home is coming may be the first but not the last time for Lenore, as the women's physical education major here.

It Rhymes With 'Thin.'

Incidentally, one of Lenore's pet peeves is the way some people pronounce her name. Rhyming with "Adeline and rhymes with "thin," not with "Nadine" as Lenore.

The long history of the five-foot seven, light-brown-haired, green-eyed queen is spiced with enthusiasms emphatically that she "hates" people who are lazy, which she wouldn't have to do, to get one, anyway. When asked to name some kind of preference in the way of food she answered, almost came out on top. She plays second base.

Lenore's plans for the future are still somewhat up in the air. She has not yet fixed upon a definite major—she's registered for a liberal arts course—and as for marriage, "Not for another five years."

From Our Readers

Dear Editor:

The election of next year's student body president is new history. One of the candidates was elected, but in my mind not ethically or even properly.

Perhaps the Easter vacation being at the time it was caused the most trouble, but I would like to see more time for the student body to discuss the candidates and their qualifications with one another so that the election be more intelligent. After all, the proxy doesn't take office till next year, why rush through the campaigning?

The matter of absentee voting has also come to my attention. Why would the entire student body intermeet on election day? I understand that is the first student election at which absentee voting was used. It is a fine thing, but let us all know about it so that if we are absent we can apply our votes, too.

Also, at the student body meeting the morning of the election (which didn't commence as usual at 8 o'clock, but after the student body meeting at 11) nothing was said of the election and the candidates were not given a chance to express their views on matters which were to vote. As the little child says, "What's the use?"

In the future I am looking forward to attention being paid to this problem as an important office to which we are electing a person and time should be spent on the matter of improving the method of choice.

Ball Players Seek First Win

By Adam Meldinger

It's baseball this afternoon on the local diamond when the Wartburg Knights meet the LaCrosse teachers college nine at 2 p.m.

After losing their initial ball game last Friday to Winona, 12-2, the Knights will attempt a comeback against their conference foes from Wisconsin before they swing into action against their competition next week.

Coach Elmer Oppermann's charges will meet Luther at Decorah on Tuesday, and on Friday the Buena Vista Beavers invade the local premises.

Starter Not Named.

Coach Oppermann refused to name his starting pitchers for either this afternoon's encounter or for next week's games.

"I'm not sure as to who will start today," he said, "and I also am not sure this afternoon, but I will also expect changes from time to time in the following games as Coach Oppermann will try to find someone who will click the best.

Catcher Jack Fridley was a casualty in the action this afternoon. The little pepper pot receiver was injured in a collision with Gib Wasmer at home plate during an intrasquad game on Tuesday and received a badly bruised knee.

Harms Behind Plate.

Ray Harms, the number-two backstop man, was also injured, but he will probably be behind the plate today. Ray has made a remarkable comeback from a polio attack at the beginning of the school year. Before the last reported for baseball this spring, he didn't expect to get in uniform a chance of making the squad, but he kept on working and practicing hard and he is still in there. His enthusiasm, grunting and fight should be an inspiration for the rest of the squad.

Probable starting line-up and batting order today may include Jim Dentler leading off and playing left field. He will be followed by Stan Wiges at second, Paul Lechner at short, Ray Harms behind the plate, Gib Wasmer at first, Dick Spies at third, Bob Reese at short, Bob Becker in right and Harms behind the plate.

The team's weaks spot is a bad breaks about sum up last Friday's loss to the Winona Warriors. Wartburg hurlers gave up eight free balls to first, and five of those walks were turned into runs.

Reese Doubles.

Winona scored once in the first inning, and the Knights came back in their half of the frame with three markers. Dentzer was safe at first on an error, Severin singled to left, and Spier drove both men in with a one-bagger to right. Reese sent a screaming double to left center to plate Spier.

Winona scored three times in the third when, with the bases loaded, Bob Jorris, Jim Stark, reached for a high outside pitch and slapped a base-clearing double.

Warriors scored once more in the fifth, but their big inning was the sixth when they tallied five times on three hits.

Paul (Red) Lechner started for the Knights, couldn't find his control and was in hot water much of the time. Freeman John Kurth took over in the fourth; Merle Meyer came on in the sixth and tossed hitless ball in his two and two-thirds innings. Sowers pitched the final frame.

Knights Capture Second At Luther Track Meet

By Rudy Kolbert

Knight cindermen copped second place honors in their first outdoor track meet this season as they finished behind the Luther eleven at Luther stadium in a triangular meet with Luther and Upper Iowa at Decorah last Saturday. Wartburg thin-clads totaled 44 1/3 points, and the Norsemen scored 61 1/3. Upper Iowa had 28 1/3 to round out the scoring.

It was a battle of Luther's powerhouse in the field events and hurdles against Wartburg's distance runners as each team took six first places.

Summaries.

Coach Bundgaard's sprinters captured every distance event from the 440-yard dash on up, with Ralph Twyman getting the high mile relay. Lynn Brown placed first in the 440-yard dash. The 880-yard run featured an all-Wartburg finish as Bob Rodewald broke the tape, with Ralph Twyman and Harold Boetting following. This was Rodewald's initial outdoor start in the half-mile event.

Twos took first place in his favorite mile event and with his second in the half-mile was high scorer for the meet for the Knights with eight points. Waldo Platte came through with a first place in the two-mile run, and teammate Keith Beyer was second.

Wartburg convincingly ran away with the mile relay as the anchor man finished half a lap ahead of the nearest rival. Harold Wiltshire, Reg. Brown and Rodewald carried the baton for the Knights. Jil Bock kept John Devoung from winning the low hurdles, as his heel touched on the last hurdle, but he did fall while well out in front.

Becker Best in Javelin.

Only Wartburg first place in the field events was registered by Lester (Pete) Becker in the javelin throw. Bobby Campbell took third place in the pole vault, high jump and broad jump.

Luther won in the field events as it took first place in the discus, pole vault, high jump and broad jump. In addition, Luther was successful in getting many valuable second- and third-place points.

An old Wartburg cridiron nemesis, Wally Grant, proved his versatile ability as he scored 15 points for his Luther mates in the field events and hurdles. Cecil Kelley swept the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash and anchored his winning 880-yard relay team as he spearheaded the Upper Iowa squad.

Cindermen In Close Triumph

By Rudy Kolbert

Clinching the meet in the final event, Knight cindermen gloriously inaugurated Wartburg's new track yesterday afternoon by gaining a 66-65 decision over Dubuque University in a dual affair, for the first victory of a Knight track team in history.

So close was the meet that notwithstanding had been tossed at Lester (Pete) Becker's triple-foot scored in the high jump were the Orange and Black declared victors.

In the first and most thrilling race of the day, Coach Bundgaard's photo finish as Bret Johansen of Dubuque came from behind to edge Wartburg's Ralph Twyn in the mile run. Twyn was only a hair second off Johansen's winning 4:52 time.

Lynn Brown, Harold Wiltshire, and Elton Rew, finishing in that order, dominated the 440 field as they swept all three places for Wartburg.

Twos again featured in a close finish as he broke the tape just ahead of teammate Rodewald to win the half-mile in 2:06.

In the endurance-testing two-mile run, Waldo Platte again led colorers for Luther to in "battle-er-lungued" as he handily won with a 10:53 time.

Holding the 20-yard advantage that a strong Wartburg Wiltshire and Brown had built up, long-striding Bob Rodewald carried the baton over the finish line in the mile relay to add three valuable points to Wartburg's total.

John Devoung placed first in the 100-yard dash and matched a second in the 220 to give the Knights points in the dashes. DeYoung also finished third in the low hurdles behind Dubuque's Williams-Watts combination. Paul Stumes salvaged a point as he finished third in the high hurdle race.

Most spectacular field event was perhaps in the discus throw as Stadland tossed his platter 131 feet, 5 inches better than any of his previous marks. Ed Marchand had a 118' 3/4" mark to take second place. Marquardt also pushed the shot 39' 10" to get first place in that event.

Bobby Campbell easily took the pole vault as he cleared 10 feet 1 inches. Steffens and Bortveit tied for second place as Wartburg's Campbell and Jim Bishop, Luther, tied also tied with Dubuque's Watts for first place in the high jump, clearing 5' 7".

Sinfonietta Ends Series With Enchanting Music

By Bob Grummels

Although a week has passed since the Artist Series concert by the Fortieth Sinfonietta, the memory of that dynamic presentation remains. It is doubtful if even the New York Philharmonic could have concluded this year's Artist Series more effectively.

Under the colorful direction of Harry Farbman, the Sinfonietta captivated its large audience for nearly two hours, playing four encores. The music was alive, vivid; the audience quick to respond; the final applause an ovation nearly heard. With a well-chosen combination of various musical moods, Mr. Farbman directed a concert which Wartburg college could be honored to present.

Music Melodic.

Beginning with the overture to the "Secret of Suzanne" by Wolf-Ferrari, the program continued with the beautiful and melodic "Adagio" by Corelli. Haydn's "Symphony No. 104 in D Major" concluded the first portion of the program.

"Rhapsody in Blue," the first number after the intermission, completely stole the show. One may wonder if Gershwin, himself, ever played it more magnificently than Miss Mary Novis, featured pianist. Three encores were demanded before the charmed audience would allow her to leave the piano.

Play Four Encores.

"The Prayer of the Toreador" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, "Dance of the Comedians" by Smetana concluded the regular program. However, Mr. Farbman was called back four times to direct encores. At this time, the Sinfonietta played the melancholy but beautiful "Valse Triste" by Sibelius, the tripping "Perpetual Motion" by Strauss, "Pavane" by the American composer Morton Gould and a unique arrangement of "Surrey with the Fringe on Top."

When the concert ended, the Fortieth Sinfonietta had more than succeeded in leaving members of the audience with a feeling of satisfaction. They were enchanted.

President To Speak

Mrs. Paul Moeller, Iowa district president of the Women's Missionary society, will be the speaker at the Lenten vesper service tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. in the Little Theater. She will speak on "The Work of the Women's Missionary Society."

Lambda Mu Accepts New Frat Members

Lambda Mu out of Alpha Pa Omega, honorary dramatics fraternity on campus, initiated seven new members into its ranks Tuesday evening, April 18, in the Little Theater.

Accepted into the fraternity were Sylvia Meyn, senior; Janet Press, Doris Herrfeldt and Harold Wheaton, juniors; Helen Hettenmeyer and Fred Moberg, sophomores, and Grace Hartman, freshman.

New officers of the cast were also elected at the meeting, with Bob Snyder, sophomore, chosen to next year's presidency. Other officers are Del Herrfeldt, vice-president, and Grace Hartman, secretary-treasurer.

New Rings Appear Following Vacation

New items of jewelry—to be worn on the third finger, left hand, appeared on campus last week when some of the women returned from Easter vacation.

Marjorie Uhrbh, former Wartburg coed and personnel secretary to Dean Carl F. Reuss, announced her engagement to Ivan Kresnik, senior chemistry major from Eaton, Colo. No date has been set for the wedding.

Only Wartburg coeds to reveal their sparklers were two freshmen, Mary Armstrong from Fairhaven, S. D., and Emma Lou Walling, of Streator, Ill. Miss Armstrong announced her engagement to Gilbert Mueller, senior at Wartburg seminary. The couple will be married this summer. Miss Walling became engaged to Robert Ashley, of Tonica, Ill.

Austerud Invited

Miss Stella M. Austerud, of the education department, has been invited to participate in the eighth annual Midwest Conference on Rural Life and Education to be held April 21, 22 and 23 at the state teachers college, Minot, North Dakota.

"Photo Exhibit" will be the topic under discussion at the Camera club meeting Thursday, April 27, in room 15 of Old Main, according to Jim Bergen, senior, and president of the group. Camera club intends to exhibit these photos on Senior day.
